Department of Psychology

Psychology is recognized as one of the most important disciplines not only in the fields of business, management and economic decision making, but also among the entire body of Social Sciences. National education data shows that psychology is among the most popular disciplines in Pakistan and a large number of students seek opportunities for post-graduate education in this subject. The Psychology Department at UCP has been established to cater the needs of this segment of students striving to make a career in academia or industry. This year the department plans to launch several psychology-based training programmes for people in industry, business and management to help improve performance and career prospects – specifically for HR Specialists and business managers.

Department of Political Science & International Relations

Department of Political Science & International Relations is an emerging seat of knowledge at the University of Central Punjab (UCP) offering two undergraduate programmes; BS International Relations and BS Political Science. UCP hires highly qualified and experienced faculty with the aim to attract bright scholars and professionals and to deliver quality education following its tradition. The Department is designed to furnish a stimulating academic environment for scholars and students in their pursuit of learning. Its goal is to facilitate students by enhancing their knowledge and achieve academic excellence so they can pursue their educational and professional dreams. The department undertakes special surveys, studies and recreational tours to parliament, courts, NGOs and different organizations for the grooming of students. This department aims to produce graduates with an understanding of institutions, practices, and relations that constitute public life and developing modes of inquiry that promote citizenship, and ways to succeed in the global world.

Department of Economics

The critical role of the subject of Economics and economists in identifying and suggesting remedial measures for multiple problems hindering the socio-economic growth of a society is well recognized not only in Pakistan but also all over the world. At its present stage of development, Pakistan is facing multiple constraints on the way of economic growth due to a lack of professionals having command over knowledge and its application in various areas of development, policy making, implementation and evaluation. Even teaching, research and normal operations of the various institutions in the public and private sectors suffer due to inadequacy of trained human resources. To fill this gap, we have taken the initiative to train the students with the cutting-edge knowledge in economics through undergraduate and graduate studies in economics. These students upon graduation will be ready to take jobs in the public and private sectors and also can start their own businesses and consultancies in their areas of specialization.

Initially the department of Economics was established for teaching the subjects of Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, Economic Analysis and Managerial Economics to support the BBA and MBA programs of Faculty of Management Sciences. In pursuance of our long-term vision, BS Economics and Finance program was launched in Fall 2011 by FoHSS. A separate and independent Economics Department was established to offer various degrees in the said subjects. To further strengthen the BS Economics program, the department was reoriented to offer specializations in Finance as well as Data Analytics with the objective to prepare students to be warmly accepted in public and private sectors, specifically, banking and development sectors in the country and abroad. The MS Program was started in Fall 2013 to be followed by PhD in later semesters. So far, seven MS students have successfully completed their degrees and other seven students are working on their theses. MS theses are evaluated by the experts in the respective fields and quality of the research work is ensured rigorously.

Department of General Education

The Department of General Education is a key department not only for the Faculty of Humanities and Social sciences but it has a vital role to play for the entire university. It is committed to provide students with a broad and balanced education that will prepare them for success in their chosen fields of study and in life. This department is designed to develop students' critical thinking, problem-solving, communication skills, understanding history and religion; to introduce them to a wide range of knowledge and ideas; and to help them become well-rounded individuals who are engaged citizens of the world.

A variety of courses are being taught through this department in the form of compulsory or allied courses in all the faculties around the university. The courses taught are Pakistan Studies, Islamic Studies, Philosophy, Sociology, and Anthropology. These courses are designed to provide students with a role of supporting them in their major areas of knowledge and to help them develop their understanding of the world around them. These courses allow students to explore their interests and learn more about specific topics and understand the complexities of the world they face on a daily basis.

Our faculty members are highly qualified and experienced educators who are passionate about teaching and learning. They are committed to helping students succeed and to providing them with the resources they need to succeed in their studies. We also offer a variety of support services to students, including tutoring, academic advising, and career counselling for the furtherance of student welfare.

International Relations

Introduction

The Department of Politics and International Relations (P&IR) is designed to furnish a stimulating academic environment for scholars and students in their pursuit of learning. Its goals are to facilitate students in enhancing their knowledge, achieving academic excellence and pursuing their educational and professional goals. UCP has developed various institutional linkages to ensure that P&IR's graduating Alumni are provided with a wide range of opportunities to meet these goals.

Rationale of the Program

BS International Relations (IR) program requires and encourages students to develop a multi-disciplinary perspective on regional and global issues. By developing the reading, writing, research, presentation, and analytical skills of students, this program aims to prepare students for careers in business, government, education, and the non-profit sector as well as further studies in related disciplines.

Program Objectives

This undergraduate program aims to prepare its students to gain a deeper knowledge of the subject as well as an ability to analyze any given situation and draw more educated conclusions. It is designed by keeping in view the following key objectives:

1. The graduates who complete this program should have a sound and broad knowledge of the subject of International Relations. For this purpose, this intensive and extensive program spreads over 4-Years.
2. The program would familiarize students with emerging trends in the disciplines of Political Science and International Relations.
3. Along with the knowledge of the subject, students should also have a broader view of other disciplines of social and physical sciences. It will enable them to grasp the interaction of this subject with other branches of knowledge and strengthen their understanding of states and societies across the globe.
4. The graduates are to be equipped with essential tools and techniques of research to enable them to analyze emerging situations and issues. They will be prepared to comprehend multifaceted issues of contemporary domestic and world politics as well as foreign policy processes.

5. The program graduates would be equipped to establish and develop a viable and forceful link between theory, concepts, and practices in the field.

Teaching methods

Contemporary and workable teaching methods shall be used during the study of the subject of International Relations at the BS level.

1. Course outlines and the reading material will be provided to students. UCP provides full support to the students and teachers in getting reading material.
2. HEC guidelines as well as national and international practices are followed in the development of each course in this program.
3. Seminars, workshops, and simulations on national and international issues will be organized by the Department according to the available facilities and resources.
